13 Field Soccer Complex 'Win-Win' for San Antonio

Gordon Hartman looked out over the fields at the STAR Soccer Complex and talked about his dream for soccer in the Alamo city.

"There's an enormous amount of excitement about these fields, about what they bring to San Antonio," he said. "We're just scratching the surface of the potential here in soccer."

"We had a training session with our Trinity team here, and it didn't feel like it was a San Antonio complex," said Trinity men's coach Paul McGinlay, a longtime champion for international youth soccer development. "I thought I was in Southern Florida or Southern Cal, where the top facilities in the country are. I don't know if Gordon really knows what he's done here. It's going to make a phenomenal difference not just in the South, but nationally."

The 13-1/2 field complex, a $9 million project, covers roughly 40 acres of what was once the vacant Longhorn Quarry. It includes a 900-seat championship field, area-wide lighting, concrete walkways, a public-address system and concession and bathroom facilities.

For Hartman, the bigger mission is seeing the sports complex provide the chief funding for the adjacent Morgan's Wonderland family park, a $20 million development for children with special needs.

PTP also partnered with Pizza Hut Park in Frisco, home of MLS's FC Dallas. Pizza Hut Park, operated by the Hunt Sports Group, features multiple soccer fields and a large state-of-the-art stadium very similar to STAR Soccer Complex.

PTP's George Spillman worked with STAR Soccer Complex as a consultant on the project. STAR selected the Toro Groundsmaster 3505, Toro Workman & Versa Vac. Among other products from PTP are the Toro Pro Core aerator and Ty-Crop top dresser. Tim Loesch is the Director of Agronomy at STAR Soccer Complex.
